GLADIOLI

The Gladiolus needs no words to commend it. It thrives so well in all localities and requires so little space that every garden should have at least a few hundred bulbs to provide an abundance of cut flowers for the latter part of the summer.

Plant the bulbs in April or May, 4 to 6 inches deep, four to one foot of row, or preferably, eight to a foot of double row, that is, two rows of bulbs about three inches apart in one trench.

America, soft lavender pink, very large and fine, 40c per doz., $2.00 per 100.

DAHLIAS

The newer types of Dahlias are fast bringing this flower into the prominence it deserves. From September their gorgeous colorings add to the beauty of the autumn days until frost brings the garden season to a close.

The varieties here offered are selected for their merit and free blooming habit in this climate.

The tubers should be planted horizontally about six inches deep and from two to four feet apart. We do not advise planting until June and recommend that no fertilizer be applied until the flower buds appear.
Aegir, a rich cardinal red cactus variety, 15c.

Bertha von Suttner, an exceptionally large peony flowered variety of blush rose suffused yellow, 35c.

Clifford W. Bruton, large canary yellow decorative type, 15c.

Countess of Lonsdale, the freest blooming cactus variety, of perfect form, a combination of amber and salmon pink, 20c.

Floradora, a very free cactus variety of deep blood red, very good with Lonsdale, 15c.

Glori de Lyon, a large strong growing pure white of the show type, perfectly round, 15c.

Golden Gate, an immense flower of cactus type on long stems, deep golden yellow tinted with bronze, 50c.

Jeanne Charmet, very large flowered decorative of deep rose, 25c.

Lawine, the best white cactus variety we have grown, whites all being shy bloomers, 20c.

Mrs. Roosevelt, a giant flowered decorative, shell pink and white, 25c.

Queen Emma, a charming peony flowered soft rose, inner petals edged gold, 25c.

Susan, a delicate rose pink and white show variety, very free, 20c.

Wm. Agnew, large loose flowers of a beautiful red, one of the most brilliant for the garden, 15c.

Prices per dozen are ten times the single price and a dozen may be made up of three or more each of any varieties, these prices including prepaid carriage.
